

FLINT'S NAME IN U.S. LAND HEARING

Copious Denials by Witnesses of Truth of Alleged Connection.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—The name of United States Senator Flint and that of the Los Angeles law firm with which he has been associated here were today brought into the hearing before United States Surveyor General Archer, where testimony is being taken to determine whether the federal or state government has title to about 180,000 acres of valuable bottom lands in Riverside county, lying along the Colorado river, in California, fifty miles above Yuma. The testimony which brought out Senator Flint's name produced something of a sensation.

L. L. Morse, a hotel keeper and rancher of the Palo Verde Valley, where the land in question is located, stated that he was induced to file on some of the land as state land on the representation of J. P. Lovering, a civil engineer interested in the effort to have the land declared property of the state, who told him according to Morse's statement, that "he might as well get in on this," and that Senator Flint was "taking care of the Washington end" and that the Los Angeles law firm of Gray, Barker and Bowen were handling matters here.

The law firm is Senator Flint's old firm and he still maintains offices in connection with them.

"How did you happen to apply for such lands?" Morse was asked.

"Mr. Lovering came down into the valley and saw me," he replied. "He said that those lands would be re-claimed by the government for myself. I told him I did not think there was any possibility of that, but he assured me there was. He said that Senator Flint was taking care of the Washington end of it, and that Gray, Barker and Bowen of Los Angeles would take care of this end of the proposition."

Lovering later denied Morse's statements.

The firm of Gray, Barker and Bowen are representing in the present hearing various parties who are endeavoring to prove that the land is "swamp and overflow," belonging to the state.

METAL WORKERS STRIKE TANK SPRINGS LEAK; FOR MORE PAY AND SHORTER HOURS

Labor Agitator Inaugurates Walkout By Arousing Dissatisfaction.

Action Regarded With Much Apprehension on Part of Operators.

COALINGA, Aug. 25.—As the result of efforts put forth by J. P. Johnson, a labor agitator of Los Angeles and a representative of the Metal Trade Workers of that city, a strike has been called by the employees of the Western Pipe and Steel Company, which has been constructing tanks for the Producers' Transportation Company. The strike has been on for three days. Johnson claims that the men in the Coalingsa field have not been paid the union scale of wages and that they are required to work longer than the eight hour schedule. He declares that he will "plunket the job" and not allow a union man to go to work on the construction of the tank and will induce non-unionists to keep their hands out of the trouble. Johnson arrived in Coalingsa several days ago and immediately went out to the new station of the Producers' Transportation Company, about a mile east of the city.

Making himself acquainted with the employees of the Western Pipe and Steel Company, he introduced to them the subject of the strike that is being carried on by the unionists in Los Angeles against the Western Pipe and Steel Company, the Lewellen Iron Works and Lacy Brothers. It is the intention of these men in Los Angeles to stir up dissatisfaction wherever these companies are working, or have employees.

A member of the American Federation of Labor is also in Coalingsa and he and Johnson have held several meetings, an A. F. of L. local has been organized and a representative of the Los Angeles metal workers will arrive in the city in a few days to organize a local branch of the tank workers and bring with them funds to conduct the local strike and support the strikers.

It is also understood that Johnson will leave Coalingsa after matters are properly organized to call upon the employees of the Western Pipe and Steel Company at the storage stations near Taft and Reed Station. This is the first move in the history of the oil industry in the San Joaquin valley that the industry has been bothered with, labor troubles and coming at this time when there are hundreds of barrels of oil in storage awaiting transportation to tide water, the movement is likely to cause much consternation in oil circles and cause the shutting down of a great many of the producing properties. It is reported that the operators will take up the matter of quelling the strike in this field.

OIL NOTES FROM COALINGA FIELD

COALINGA, Aug. 25.—The Cobeltz Oil Company, operating on a forty-eight-acre tract adjoining the New Pennsylvania, in the old Coalingsa field, has again resumed drilling operations, after a delay of over a month. The well is down 1850 feet with a six-inch pipe.

The Coalingsa Royal is down 2226 feet in 3½-inch casing. The drill recently encountered a strong pressure of oil and gas, which is still evident, and the driller are hopeful of nearing the pay sand.

INCURABLE CASE (A HOSPITAL CASE)

Authorities declare kidney disease incurable after the sixth month. This was the situation up to the working out of the new emollient treatment—the only thing known that dares claim in print to cure chronic kidney disease.

Every case presented has been declared incurable by physicians and in some cases four to six have passed on the fatal diagnosis.

Case of L. T. Gibson, No. 521 5th Avenue, Sacramento.—Was an iron with kidney disease that he was in the local hospital. Was swollen to bursting with dropsy that often attended serious cases. When the best physician had failed Chas. A. Newton, yard master of the S. P. R. Co., of Sacramento (who had himself been cured), was instrumental in getting the patient on the new emollient treatment. Dropsy began to subside, the kidney inflammation gradually abated and Gibson fully recovered from a disease that is rated incurable the world over.

Fulton's Renal Compound, the first successful treatment for chronic disease, can only be had in your city of our authorized agents, the Patterson Block Pharmacy.

We desire to hear from and advise with every case not yielding.

VALLEY OIL COMPANY HAS STRUCK GUSHER

Oil Is Flowing Over Derrick According to Report Received Here.

The Valley Oil Company, which is operating on the west edge of the city limits of Coalingsa struck a gusher yesterday, which flowed over the top of the derrick, according to a report received in Fresno yesterday afternoon. It was impossible to learn last night just what the well is doing, as no communication could be had with those who might know the facts.

A party of Fresno men, who visited the Coalingsa field yesterday, stated upon their return last night that the new gusher broke loose about noon. They were unable to tell what it was doing, however.

Ed. Pierce, a driller on the well, ran the baffle in the hole yesterday morning and when it was pulled out the well started to flow. The hole was not drilled into the sand.

OWNER OF PROPERTY IN ORIENTAL QUARTER SUES OFFICERS

Would Recover $299 for Damage in Raid Upon

Selma Growers Figure Rai- sin Crop 40 Per Cent Short; Prospects Good.

SELMA, Aug. 25.—Amos Keith, who is the owner of nearly all of the buildings in Chinatown, sprung quite a surprise yesterday by entering a suit against W. O. Ingram, city marshal, for the sum of $299 and costs, for damages alleged to have been caused to his buildings in Chinatown in a recent raid. This is the retaliation given the marshal for entering the premises by force on August 14th, at which time the officer and deputy captured fourteen Chinese and Japanese gamblers, who confessed to the gambling charge and paid fines in Reorder Mitchell's court.

The Chinese are understood to be behind Keith in this proceeding, for if they are successful, it will assist them in protecting their games from the officers who have broken it on them on several occasions.

Packers and prominent fruit growers who have made a thorough examination of vineyards, adjacent to Selma and neighboring towns, report that the crop this year will be considerably shorter than last year. Some estimates place this season's crop at not over 40 per cent below normal, while many agree that it is at least 25 per cent short.

As a result, Selma's fruit trading here on a 25 cent basis, with many growers holding for 35¢. A canvass of the local packing houses reveals the fact that there is not a pound of last year's raisins on hand, all having been shipped out. It is only last week that the last of the 1909 grapes were bought, and one grower sold his 1908 and 1909 crops at the same time that he contracted his 1910 goods.

BUTCHER IS ACCUSED OF STEALING STEER

Dairyman Has Man Arrested on Embezzlement Charge.

MADERA, Aug. 25.—Theodore Alvis, the North Fork butcher, who furnishes the San Joaquin Light and Power Company with meat, came here today from Fresno, having driven down from the mountains to appear before Judge Rhodes on a charge of grand larceny, preferred against him by Mrs. Emma Wolf of Zebra, who alleges that he slaughtered a 2-year-old steer belonging to her. The preliminary was set for September 3rd at Central station. He was allowed to go on his own recognition. Alvis claims that his arrest was due to spite, as he had discharged a son of the woman some time ago from his employ. He does not fear the result of the examination but he regrets the notoriety the case may bring to him.

Lee Howard was arrested and admitted to $600 bail yesterday, on a charge of embezzlement preferred against him by John Vergosen, a dairyman, who charged that he embezzled $58 in sums ranging from 70 cents to $5. Howard says he is innocent and that the complaining witness owes him money at maturity.

The preliminary examination of Joe Roldano, on a charge of assault by means and force liable to produce great bodily injury, was held this morning set for August 30th. He is accused of having assaulted L. V. Isham, a boy in the Club saloon, in a row which started over a card game.

LAD IS ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF BURGLARY

Son of Good Porterville

Family Has Complete
"Skeleton" Outfit.

EPIDEMIC OF CRIME

Evidence Found of Organized Indian Liquor Traffic at Porterville.

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 25.—Today the officers took into custody Eddie Nause, son of T. J. Nause, a well known resident of C street, the youth being charged with burglarizing the home of E. L. Scott, cashier of the Pioneer Bank, while the Scott family were on a vacation outing in the hills.

One of the astounding things to the officers when the arrest was made was the fact that in the boy's possession was a complete set of skeleton keys, many of these were of the approved "skeleton" pattern, and it was noted that equipped with them young Nause could have made his way into any house in Porterville with the possible exception of those fitted with Yale or similar locks.

Mr. Nause appealed to the officers to have the lad sent to the state industrial school. She asserted that he is absolutely incorrigible and that the fact that he has been kept in confinement to the house for weeks at a time, whenever he is given freedom, has not been of any service to him.

There has been during the past six months a very decided epidemic of boy-burglaries and the officers are at a loss as to the best manner in which to cope with the situation. The worst feature of the epidemic is the extreme nature of the offense, the offenders being known to the police as "bad boys," but in a good many instances the majority of instances are the members of good families and those which are prominent either in business or a social way.

Charlie Duncan and Bob Felix, the Indians who acquired an ephemeral fame earlier in the week by reason of decorating each other with long bladed knives as the result of drunken row, were in Judge Hall's court today.

Apparently Duncan and Felix were old college chums, one my judges of character, maintained in which they went into court and the amiable man in which they chatted while seated together in the court room. Each of the two asserted that he was very very sorry the fight had occurred and both swore fervently as they maintained their trouble was due to a "bad boy" which was induced by drinking equally bad white man's whiskey.

The board of education has accepted the plans for the new high school building to cost, furnished, approximately $60,000. Bids will be advertised for it on Sept. 1. It is hoped to ter the first of the year. B. G. Mc-

SHORT BALLOT

When the Republican, a few years ago, began advocating the "short ballot," it seemed almost like an academic vision of an unattainable future. The "short ballot organization" of New York did not yet exist, and even the name "short ballot" had not become a part of the argot of politics. But the world do move—so fast, sometimes, that it makes one dizzy. Ideas that were "advanced" a little while ago are now commonplace. And the dream of the short ballot is now almost a reality. In fact, it is already a reality in many cities, all over the United States. The chief gain of the "commission" plan in city governments is the shortness of the ballots. The people choose few officials, but they hold these accountable. Being few and important, every one is interested in them, and has an opinion, which he votes. For wiser or for foolish, the people rule. And usually they rule extremely well. They do not always elect the best men, but, whatever sort they elect, they make them behave.

The same experiment was of course tried from the beginning in national affairs. Nationally we vote for President and for Congressmen, and for no one else. Whatever other officials are needed (and there are 200,000 of them) those select. The idea of choosing a United States Treasurer or Attorney General is as foolish as it never occurred to anyone. Yet we do exactly this, in practically every state in the nation. The system is ridiculous and undemocratic and it works badly—even worse under a good system of direct nominations than under a bad system of convention nominations. But we are used to it, and until recently few people stopped to consider its foolishness. Now they are doing so, and it is easily possible that we may get the short ballot in California within the next four years. That would make California the pioneer in the greatest pending reform in state governments.

The proposal is not to transform the states into autocracies. It is, in fact, to go no further with them than our great grandfathers already went with the national government. Even in the most extreme form of the short ballot, the governor and the legislature would still be elected. That would make the whole government directly responsible to the people. But the attorney general, the treasurer, the clerk of the supreme court, and the surveyor general would no longer be elected by the people. Rather, the fact that the governor would have the appointment of them would make the people take an even greater interest in his office and its policies.

One great objection to the present long ballot is that it makes political organization imperative. The people simply can't work a long and complicated ballot, without political organizations. Sometimes these are the parties themselves; sometimes local good government leagues or bad government clubs; sometimes state organizations like the Lincoln-Roosevelt League. But always and in every case they are organizations of more or less professional political experts, formed to help the people in a task for which they are unorganized. People is helpless. When the organization has sound character and a definite purpose, it is very useful. But it would be far better if the people, without organization or expert assistance, could simply govern themselves. That would be easy, with only a governor, a congressman and a member of the legislature to vote for one year; a councilman or commissioner to be voted for the next year; board of supervisors the next, and a president and congressman the next year.

We shall come to this, in one step or in two. And may it not be a vain hope to wish that the next legislature may submit to the people a constitutional amendment authorizing either the first step or both?

PACIFIC ASIA

It is difficult to set any rule except that of expediency for the regulation of international action. Nations, apparently, like small boys, must fight out their troubles for they will never be settled. So-called international law itself is more or less a figment of the imagination. There is no authoritative code of international law, and to quote it has no more force than is contained in the expression "moral influence."

Not even the principle that might make right will work in the affairs of nations, although naturally it is the most potent. But the elements which go to make up a country's strength are so certain and changeable that a nation may be able to defeat its neighbor one year and be helpless before it the next. Did might make right in the struggle between Russia and Japan? Who can say? That Japan whipped does not mean that Russia is weaker today, nor necessarily that it was weaker when the war was in progress.

Nations, then, may be partly deterred from fighting by the fear that they will be defeated, but not altogether. They may be partly deterred by the respect they give to international law, but not entirely. They may respect also tradition, and yet traditions give way to progress. In expediency, the giving of information to immediate circumstances and their close economic connection, must determine how much one country will interfere in the affairs of another.

The people of the United States and of the world as a whole are vastly interested at this time in the advances being made by Japan upon China. Japan's aggression is being accomplished with the consent of Russia. No one supposes that Russia is agreeing solely because she is afraid of the Mikado. Presumably the Czar's government is getting its price, and the other nations would be glad to know just what that price is.

While the gradual partition of China has been looked forward to by publicists for a long time, it was hoped that two things would forbid it. One was the jealousy of the nations, especially of Japan and Russia, would prevent it; the other was that China herself would become strong enough to protect herself against the aggression of her neighbors.

Neither of these hopes has been fulfilled. The great powers have been as jealous as ever, but their jealousy has been impotent. Apparently they have adopted the policy of the modern trust manager, and have compromised rather than go to law. Russia and Japan have agreed that it would be useless for either to whip the other, and have bought each other off. France has become rather indifferent to the fate of China. Germany has become more interested in economic progress in South America and political intrigues in Asia. Turkey than in the growth of power on the coast of China.

Most painful of all, perhaps, has been the increased boldness of British action in the Far East. The name of England may once have made the heathen quake, but it does so no longer. The decay has set in within the last two decades. One of the first steps was the abandonment of the "splendid isolation" policy and the alliance with Japan. One of the latest has been the giving up of the "two nation" standard for the navy. England is feeling the commercial competition of the United States and the political opposition of Germany. She is no longer masterly in her domination of the affairs of the Orient.

These considerations leave the United States the only nation whose people are at all ready to interfere, should they find it necessary, in the chopping up of China by Russia and Japan. The United States is hindered in this by many things, most of all by long customs of non-intervention in foreign affairs, especially outside of the Americas. Should our national habits be abandoned? Should we fight to maintain the "open door" policy, or let Japan and Russia see that our statesmen are bluffing?

The second hoped-for check upon the greed of Russia and Japan was the expected growth of China herself.

China has grown in national consciousness. It is true, but not fast enough to awe her neighbors. The feeling of national unity, the energy to form a strong army and navy, the ambition as a nation to defend her borders from land thieves, the national pride that would forbid a sharing of sovereignty with a foreign power—these have all been seen in formation. But they have not been potent enough to prevent a co-operation in the Orient that has been in virtual if not literal violation of the agreements of the Portsmouth convention.

From a purely selfish point of view, it might be as well for the United States to permit the Japanese to spread over the mainland of Asia. The Japanese are too full of spirit to remain compressed in their small island territory. If they must expand, it would be better for the United States to give them a westward rather than an eastern outlet.

It is safe to say that if the United States shall finally interfere in the affairs of the Pacific coast of Asia, it will be because the political interests of the time require it of us. But we should be ready for the occasion, and not insure defeat by national weakness and unpreparedness. Poor, feeble China today is an illustration of the follies of disarmament, in time of peace preparing to maintain the peace and your rights, with war if necessary.

PURE INVENTION

"Thus far the trading has been between the Lincoln-Roosevelters and the Democrats and their contracts are in existence both here and at the coast. Written agreements are yet known to exist, but there is a thorough understanding among those who believe themselves able to deliver large blocks of votes that in return for Democratic aid given at and previous to the primary, patronage shall be assigned to Democrats in case of a League victory. In November, and meanwhile support given to the Democratic Legislative ticket.

"There is also a distinct understanding, the details of which are not yet perfected, as to the distribution of the offices, and especially the patronage offices, at the next municipal election."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The writer of this is the president and executive head of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League. If there were any such agreements, direct or indirect, express or implied, as are here suggested, he would know of them. Therefore, this detail is made on knowledge. The story is a pure invention. Not only is it not true, but nothing else is true out of which it could honestly have been distorted or exaggerated. All of which, doubtless, the Chronicle well knows.

Watsonville has a kick, and a just one. The Portland Oregonian has been calling the Pajaro valley "one of those forsaken spots where nothing grows but sand and cactus, with here and there a spindling fruit tree, which is painfully kept alive by emptying the dishwasher at its roots." Of course everyone who knows the wonderful little Pajaro valley knows better. That valley will ship 4500 cars of the finest apples in existence this year, and it is as it always was, one of the world's garden spots. Oregon may be all right, but if you can show finer apples, or a prettier valley than the Pajaro, it will have to be going some.

NO WAREHOUSE ROOM; FEAR FOR HAY CROP

STOCKTON, Aug. 25.—Freight steamers and barges which have been employed in hauling barley from Stockton to Port Costa for delivery to ocean-going vessels or storage have been hauled off and steamboat officials say they cannot deliver more grain there owing to lack of storage room. The warehouses there and here are well filled with grain and it is feared that all of it cannot be stored before the fall rains begin. Stockton warehouses are taking care of grain of their patrons but they are well stocked up and the surplus bought for shipment to other points is the cause of worry. Local prices for barley today were 95 cents to $1.00 and growers are storing for better figures.

GENERAL MAUS, commanding the department of the Columbia, has been telegraphed by the War Department in ascertaining if there are any troops available for transfer to the new danger zone. The Indians also will endeavor to ascertain whether the Oregon militia is to be utilized in fighting the fire.

CAMPERS CAUGHT.

PORLAND, Ore., Aug. 25.—Word has been received here that the campers at Welch's Resort, fifteen miles west of Mount Hood, are hemmed in by fire. Up to Sunday about a hundred families were camped there. Since then, however, many have returned home, and it is impossible to state at present how many are endangered.

PROSECUTOR WINDS UP IN BROWNE TRIAL

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—State's Attorney John E. Wayman ended the introduction of testimony in the second trial of Lee O'Neill Browne, late today. Counsel for the defense opened the case for the minority leader with a motion to take the case from the jury and to strike from the records the testimony of Beckmeyer and several other state witnesses. His motions were refused. The prosecutor reserved the right to call James Kelley, managing editor of the Tribune, as a witness. Kelley is out of the city.

WU TO HEAD PARTY TO HAGUE TRIBUNAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Wu Ting-fang, former Chinese minister at Washington, is to head the Chinese delegation to the Hague permanent court of arbitration. American Minister Calhoun today called the State Department that the delegates will be Wu Ting-fang, Hu Wei-tao, Liu Shih Hsun and Mr. Von Den Huwei.

The American government has also been informed that the Chinese delegates to the International Peace Congress, which is to meet in Washington, called yesterday on the Marquis de Shanghai. They are Chen Shih Chien, Cheng Ying and Li Lang, all members of the younger progressive group of officials of China.

POPE DENIES CLASH WITH PORTUGUESE

ROME, Aug. 25.—The vatican today authorized a denial of the report that it was on the verge of a rupture with Portugal because of the Portuguese government's recent censure of the Catholic bishop of Braga for supporting a Franciscan newspaper without having first secured the consent of the government to do so.

FOREST FIRE DEATH LIST LONG; FLAMES ABATING

remain in this city as long as the situation is acute. He said today: "I find that the local officials have everything well in hand and that the work of relief and extinguishing the flames is being well handled. The men have recovered from the temporary disorganization caused by the hurricane of Saturday night and Sunday.

The calamity is a most serious one and I am distressed over the loss of life."

Graves said that there would be no change in the present policy of conducting the fight, and that it would be carried along present lines.

As to means of preventing fires in the future, Graves said that his bureau would continue the building of trails and roads through the forest reserves in order to render them more accessible.

The need of such accessories is very apparent at present," he said.

TOWNS THREATENED.

OGDEN, Utah, Aug. 25.—The forests which border Bayfield creek, near Salmon City and Spencer, towns in Bear Creek Central Idaho, are ablaze tonight according to advice which had reached Ogden. Firemen, who have been battling throughout the day against the flames, are now twenty miles in length and eight miles wide in the grasp of the flames. Forester Sherman has arranged to send a crew of rangers northward tonight.

WATER SUPPLY IN DANGER.

PORLAND, Aug. 25.—With forest fires sweeping across into the Bull Run watershed, Portland's water supply is in danger tonight. A strong gale has been placed at a bridge west of McWaynes Inn, which carries the big pipe line, while at other points employees of the city water department and the forestry service are co-operating to protect the aqueduct. Every drop of water used here comes from the Bull Run streams.

In the district between Portland and Mount Hood a score of fires are burning. It is estimated that twenty families, having lost their homes and all their belongings, are now walking the thirty miles of distance between the worst fires and Portland. Campers and vacationists have been telephoning to the city all day for automobiles and vehicles of any kind with which to escape from the threatened district. Two stations have been burned, houses and sheds have been falling in Portland today.

"I believe in party government, but the moment a question of honesty is involved I recognize no party distinction. If I make any distinction, it is that it is a little more my business to hunt out of public life a crook who claims to belong to my party than if he claims to belong to another."

DISTRUST CLASS REFORMER.

"In order to do that you must keep your eyes fixed not on the social and financial status of the man, but on the man's conduct good or evil. Distrust above all other men the man who will inveigle against crookedness, only if he finds it is connected with somebody not connected with his own party.

"Distrust the financier who cannot see crookedness among financiers, but only among the labor leaders, and distrust the labor leader who can see crookedness only when it is by the big financier. Attack a man because he is crooked. If he is a poor man and crooked, attack him. If he is a rich man and crooked, attack him.

"Personally, I would attack the rich man who is crooked just a little stronger because crookedness is just a trifle more infamous in him. But it will attack the other man very strongly.

"There is no royal road to learning. Something can be done by good laws, or by a strict administration of law, but in the last resort you must have the average citizen with a live conscience or you cannot expect the public servants to be private citizens to do their duty honestly and well.

"Often you will find that men betrayed the interests of the people by doing what is improper for some big corporation. In that case try to get them and try to get at the big corporation and all those responsible for its management and I will help you every way that I can.

"I have done it in the past. I will do it just as we did in connection with the sugar trust.

DO NOT PITTY THE TOOL.

"Do not let the man feel that he is to be pitied rather than blamed for yielding to the temptation offered by the big corporation that tried to get him to go. My experience is that the kind of man who will go wrong when the corporation tempts him is a crook from the start and goes wrong because he is glad to go wrong. My experience is that such a man will be just as quick to blackmail a corporation as he will to take money corruptly.

"If the people fail to condemn the man who is crooked and who will blackmail a corporation, they will have themselves to thank when the blackmailer turns round and becomes a tool of the corporation which he will do when it is in his interest to do so.

"You are not going to get honesty in a public servant on behalf of the people unless you insist on that man showing honesty to all with whom he is brought into contact.

"I would fight for the rights of the big man just as I would for the rights of the small man, and for the rights of all the people."

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
The disturbance that was general over Lake yesterday morning has advanced over the Lake region. It has caused rain generally over Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, the upper Mississippi valley and upper Lake region, while its influence is also shown in the high temperature that continues from the lower Lake region and Ohio valley to the Atlantic coast. High barometric pressure still covers the Atlantic seaboard and rainfall continues from the central westward. The high barometric area overlying the Northwest yesterday morning has spread eastward over the Plains and southward over the Rocky Mountain districts, causing fair weather and a sharp fall in temperature as far south as Oklahoma and eastward into the upper Mississippi valley, with temperatures below freezing this morning in Montana and Wyoming.

The pressure is low along the Pacific slope this morning and the weather will be slightly unsettled in consequence with some cloudiness at intervals.

Report Now.

West and Son of Stockton Announce Prices for Vintage.

The Barton winery has established a price of $9 per ton for wine grapes, according to a report received yesterday. This offer has been verified by a local grower who says a contract drawn up with the Barton in which $9 per ton was the price named. All payments are cash payments.

Unable to make any prices himself, George P. Beveridge, local manager for the California Wine Association, is desirous, it is stated, of having the officers of the association to make an advance in price to meet the independents. In the meanwhile it is understood, he has instructed the Scandinavian winery to hold off until Saturday before making any prices to growers in that vicinity. This action has been taken because Beveridge is awaiting word from San Francisco.

George West & Son of Stockton have announced their wine prices for the 1910 vintage, these prices applying only to San Joaquin county and subject to change without notice. All grapes must test 22 per cent sugar excepting Burger, Cornishen, Emperor, Ferrara, Polle Blanche, Tokaya and Verdes, which must test 22 per cent. No grapes will be accepted that fail to test 19 per cent and for each degree below the standard, 25 cents per ton will be deducted.

The prices are f. o. b. cars, half cash and the balance April 1 next. The prices follow:

Two applications for membership in Odd Fellows were received last night, while two were elected to membership. The lodges are preparing for the regular work, president to initiate to be taken up at the next meeting, when five new members will be initiated into the lodges.

For 455 acres of land, Steward Chotau, a part breed Ossage, received in actual cash $372, he testified before the committee.

"On March 2 last," said Chotau, who is 22 years of age, "I received a certificate of competency allowing me to manage my own affairs as regards my part of tribal lands. Five days later S. Sands got me to sign a deed to 455 acres, for which he was to give me $1000. He kept the $1000 to pay him for some furniture and a buggy I bought from him. Ten days later he called me up and said he wanted to sell $35 more."

"In the meantime I had borrowed a small sum of money from him, so he gave me $372 for the 355 acres, and cancelled the debt. That $372 was all the cash I ever got for the 455 acres. I never asked how much the property was worth, but left that all to Sands."

Mr. Revard, a part breed Ossage, mother of Chotau, testified she had protested to Washington against the issuance of a certificate of competency to her son, but the certificate was issued and the land sold without her knowledge.

Representative B. S. McGuire of Gilroy appeared before the committee to deny that Richard C. Adams of Washington had ever said he (McGuire) was interested in the McMurry contracts. He read a telegram from Adams, who also denied ever making the statement. Representative Charles Carter previously had testified that Adams had said McGuire had favored the contracts.

"SPENDTHRIFT" OPENS SEASON FRIDAY

WILL WAGE RELENTLESS
WAR ON CHINESE
GAMBLING

Chief Shaw Issues Stern
Edict to Gamesters and Patrolmen.

Increases Chinatown Squad
by Addition of Officer
George Machen.

An edict was issued last night by Chief of Police Shaw that gambling must stop in Chinatown. Shaw says that he will not tolerate it any longer, and with this end in view transferred Patrolman George Machen, who has been doing duty on J and I streets, to Chinatown to assist Patrolman Crockett and McCall in suppressing the wily Chinese, and their games.

Shaw himself visited Chinatown last night with the result that shortly after he returned there was not a gambling house running. The lights were turned out, the inner and outer guards withdrew from their posts of duty, and the heavy doors closed with a surly clang, and were not opened.

Whether the Chinese have closed their gambling houses permanently or whether their compliance with the order is only temporary cannot be ascertained at this time. It is, however, suspected that they will try and reopen Saturday night in which event Shaw intends to take more drastic measures until the evil is stamped out.

Patrolman Machen will remain in Chinatown until this has been accomplished, and if three patrolmen are not sufficient to put the lid on the games, others will be added to the Chinatown squad.

TENNESSEAN, Helped By Dinuba People, Skips With Their Coin.

HUMANE OFFICER ON TRAIL OF MAN WHO DRAGGED HIDE OFF HIS COW.

DINUBA, Aug. 25.—It was learned today that S. D. Stewart, who came here from Tennessee about a year ago and was the subject of charity on hands here for several months, has sold a horse that was loaned him by E. C. Snell and then departed for the East without a word to the owner of the animal.

Stewart came here with his wife and four small children last fall and were in such straitened circumstances that they commanded the pity of many of the business men of the city. She loaned him a team to put in a crop with. He leased the J. W. Harper place north of town and bought a lot of things from Harper, the bill for the same amounting to $100.

Later, he developed what was reported to be a cancer on his hand and was incapacitated from making a living. This aroused more sympathy for the man, and Harper volunteered to cut his bill in two and wait until this fall for the other half. Snell sold one of the horses but left the other in Stewart's keeping, with the understanding that Stewart could have the privilege of buying it when he was able. It is also stated that Judge Wainwright, of the drug store and paid a large bill there. Thus the community assisted the unfortunate man.

About June 1st, Snell started for a summer vacation and shortly afterward Stewart sold the horse along with his leave and assuring the purchaser that he had bought the animal and paid for it. He took the $18 he received and struck out for his home in Sparta, Tenn. Now there are a number of people wondering what is going to be done about the matter. Snell has claimed the horse and the man who bought the same along with the lease is out his $18.

Attorney E. A. Bagby of the Tulare County Humane Society was here from Visalia yesterday investigating the reports of the case of cruelty to a cow which was dragged for half a mile on her side until the skin was all worn off the ribs.

The case has attracted much attention and discussion here, but it seems to be uncertain as to whether or not it will be possible to secure a conviction. Another case into which he was inquiring while here was the allowing of 250 head of cattle to go without water until they were nearly famished.

J. T. Godman, who resides near the Coffin place, said a Korean had a mix-up yesterday over the amount of wages due the latter, and after the Korean had applied several epithets to Godman, she latter landed on the foreigner's head with a rake, considerably battering up the same. The Korean demanded the payment of $10 while it was stated that he only had $7.50 back wages due him.

It is reported that the troop of cavalry which has been doing service in Sequoia and Grant Parks during the summer will shortly leave for the Presidio, and that they propose to come through Dinuba on their return. The troop has been reduced by discharge on account of expiration of service until now there are but eight men left to take back the more than fifty head of horses taken with them into the mountains.

Yesterday, Professor Quayle and Thomas F. Hunt, from the agricultural department of the University of California, were here investigating a complaint sent the department by Mr. Cederholm concerning a peculiar disease of his trees. Professor Quayle is the trip expert at the university and made a special trip out to the C. B. Driver ranch to inspect the new trip catching machine recently perfected there.

The announcement of the transfer of Manager Will Whittington from the local station of the San Joaquin Light and Power Company to the Fresno office comes as a surprise to the many friends here. Mr. Whittington has been connected with the local station ever since the power was brought here four years ago, and has seen the local work grow from the small beginning to the present large proportions.

He will have a much better position in the head office, and will be succeeded here by L. T. Jones, who has been in charge of the Selma station. Wills McManis of this place has been made manager at Selma.

There is prospects of a competing telephone company here in the near future. A. F. Smith of Salt Lake City is visiting here and is planning to form a local company for the building of a home telephone system here. It is the purpose to equip the system with a flash-light board and to serve the residents of this city and the surrounding country for many miles.

According to reports, the establishing of the Dinuba branch of the Tuolumne County Library will be effected very shortly. The books are expected soon, and the shelving and other supplies are now all on hand for the branch. This will be the first county branch to be established and will start with fifty volumes to be increased just as rapidly as the borrowers increase, at the rate of twenty-five for every fifty books. The library will be maintained in the front of the Dinuba furniture store, and Miss Etta Pillsbury will be in charge.

DAMAGES AGAINST RAILROAD STAND

SEWARD, Alaska, Aug. 25.—U. S. District Judge E. E. Cushman today denied a motion made by the attorneys for the Copper River and Northwestern Railway Company for a new trial in the damage case in which R. Phillips was awarded $15,000 damages against the company for injuries received in the Keystone Canyon battle two years ago. Before giving his decision Judge Cushman said that unless Phillips would consent to a reduction of $6000 in the damages awarded by the jury he would grant the motion for a new trial, as he considered the $15,000 awarded in the verdict as excessive.

Phillips agreed. The attorney for the railroad gave notice of an appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court.

IT NEEDS NO CHAMPION.

The Rev. Elmer L. Williams, pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, championed the cause of the kids in a sermon at the Desplaines Chapel last Monday.

The speaker's intentions were no doubt good. But he was doing a bootless thing in defending the kids—almost as bootless a thing as attacking it.

The plain fact of experience is that neither attack nor defense has any apparent effect on the kids. It is really wonderful how it has survived through the ages, maintaining its popularity in the face of every discouragement.

The "blue law" persons have preached against the kids, the police have warred against them, and last fall science tried to prove to the world that it is a menace to the life and happiness of the world. But it has withstood them all.

The father of the family reads an article in a medical journal detailing the horrors that may follow in the train of a single kiss. He then goes placidly home and kisses his wife, just as if that article had never been written.

The mother reads in a 10 cent magazine or some other publication that detail in popularized science about the dangers that lurk in simple kissing. At that moment the baby cries. Whereupon the kisses him to keep him quiet and finishes the article with much complacency.

The young man reads a Sunday supplement about the 18,000,000 microorganisms that lurk in every kiss, several of the microbes being greatly and terrifyingly enlarged. And he goes right down to his best girl's house and if he doesn't kiss her it is not because of the microbes.

When one considers how long the kiss has lasted, how easily it rises above attack from all quarters, it is impossible to resist the idea that there is merit in it; that it somehow serves an useful purpose; that it answers to some impulsive demand of human nature which will not be removed with.

If science would attack it in the truly scientific fashion, it should first discover the mysterious demand it answers to. That known, and otherwise supplied, the kiss might fall a ready victim to attack.

But as long as the kiss remains the mysterious affair it is popular without effort and practiced without reflection, all attack will be vain and all defense unnecessary. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

Falls in Faint on Floor a Few Hours Before Demise.

RAISIN DAY CAMPAIGN SHOWS PERMANENT EFFECTS

Five Cent Packages Needed to Popularize Them, Says Newman.

CLOAKMAKERS HAVE VICTORY AFTER QUIET STRIKE IN NEW YORK.

"The Raisin Day posters distributed throughout the East are still hanging up in many places," remarked Dave Newman last night on returning from a seven weeks' trip to New York and other Eastern points. "I visited a lot of factories there, and in many of the gentlemen in charge took me back to see the bright posters, still bring before the eyes of the employees.

"I also called at several groceries, including small corner places, and found raisins on sale, the demand evidently being stimulated by the widespread campaign of Raisin Day. I dropped in at the big Siegel Cooper store, and there found raisins on sale for 10 cents a pound.

"The 5 cent package, I believe, will do much to popularize raisins still more, particularly if the packages are kept filled only with fresh goods. I was particularly interested in the invention of a raisin nickel in the slot machine, which may do much to stimulate the demand. Give the people a chance to buy raisins in a small package, containing enough to satisfy them for the time being, and the venture not only would mean a big increase in the consumption of the product, but would pay big returns to the operating company, properly managed."

CLOAKMAKERS' STRIKE QUIET.

"As is well known, the cloakmakers practically have won their strike. It was an interesting strike in many ways, and almost all of the shops have unionized their establishments. Although the public supported the strikers by sympathy, it was a case where economic necessity by far outweighed any deference to public opinion.

"Many of the cloakmaking establishments thought that because the strike came in a comparatively quiet period they could weather it by simply closing up their shops. They followed this plan, and the strikers quit. The latter stood pat, however, and later when the orders came in the proprietors of the shops began to feel the strike. The strikers stood their ground and stayed away, and finally most of the shops gave in. The season is short and they simply had to run their shops. You can not keep still in New York in mercantile life. It is too expensive. As one small master told me they had to accept the terms of the strikers. The strikers had some money laid by, and their sympathizers helped them out with funds. The strike was forced on the workers through natural conditions. Their wage standards were the same as six years ago, and the cost of living had increased 25 per cent. Buyers, for example, who might have worked for $6 a week could not live on their wages at present.

FINANCES GOOD. "The attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor cast a gloom over New York while I was there. The effect was almost the same as would be occasioned by an attempt on the President's life. Like every reformer, Gaynor had made some strong personal enemies, but the city at large held him in the highest respect. The man Gallagher was generally considered either a crank or a crazy man.

"The financial condition of the East is good, although there is a slight tendency to tighten up. I don't believe this due to any effect of recent elections. Even before recent occurrences I noticed that many listed stocks were lower than the same period last year. Labor, however, is well employed, and I don't believe there is anything serious the matter with conditions."

PEROXIDE CREAM

For those particular people who desire a beautiful complexion and who want to keep the skin at its best all the time—keep it clear, flexible, smooth and give it the glow of health—there is nothing as good as A. D. S. Peroxide Cream, because it contains a small quantity of Hydrogen Peroxide, the great antiseptic healing and cleansing agent.

Its action upon a red, blotted, pimply, scaly, unsightly skin is very pronounced.

When used as a massage it has a tendency to eradicate wrinkles and to nourish the tissues. It is a mild bleach—perfectly harmless and will not grow hair.

This is one of the leading preparations made by the American Druggists Syndicate, which is composed of 12,000 responsible druggists, and it is but one of the famous A. D. S. Peroxide Family.

The others—equally as good, equally as beneficial and just as popular—are A. D. S. Peroxide Tooth Powder, which whitens, cleanses and preserves the teeth; A. D. S. Peroxide Toot Paste for the same purpose, put up in a different form; A. D. S. Peroxide Soap, a very superior soap because it feels as well as cleanses; A. D. S. Peroxide Foot Powder, for tired, aching, burning feet, and last, but by no means least important, is A. D. S. Peroxide of Hydrogen, the great disinfectant and germicide now being used in so many homes.

All of these A. D. S. preparations can be obtained at any A. D. S. drug store.

Look for this sign in the Druggists' Window.
